

I like that the teachers actually come to my home to work with me and my kids. They get to know us on a personal level and my kids get to know their teacher better. Through this program, HOME WORKS! has taught me as a parent how to help my kids learn in a more fun environment.

HOME WORKS! is the only nonprofit in the region focused on developing and nurturing the crucial relationship between school and home. As a leader in this movement to advance educational equity for students who have been historically marginalized, HW! utilizes proven strategies and innovative programming to improve family engagement and educational outcomes. Our holistic approach to family engagement unites teachers and parents around their shared passion to help students reach their full potential. Through the interconnection of Teacher Home Visits, Family Dinners, and Parent-Teacher Workshops, our program helps close the educational opportunity gap by equipping parents and teachers with the tools and resources they need to work as partners for student success.

Families love Teacher Home Visits!

At the English Language Arts Parent-Teacher Workshop, I sent home reading journal prompts to a family who attended. The father texted me the next day about how the focused questions are helping him talk about reading more with his kids. With continued resources being sent home and the family's consistent attendance at HW! events, this student's end of year data demonstrated astronomical growth in reading and in math. During the 2022-23 school year, the student's reading grade level equivalency grew by 15 months! In math, her grade level equivalency grew by an astonishing 20 months, putting her math abilities above the average third grade level.

WE GET RESULTS

Year after year, HW! has demonstrated positive outcomes with a program informed by research and best practices. As a result of the HW! program, our parents experience reduced barriers to engagement with their child's school and increase their supportive learning behaviors at home. Our teachers experience better classroom behavior and improved relationships with parents. Our students attend school and complete their homework at higher rates. All of these successes join together to accelerate academic achievement for our students.

Home visits have opened up a dialogue between the parents and myself. The number of students regularly turning in homework has doubled and I really think this is due to the partnership that the parents and I have forged through the interactions we have had in their homes.
